Knowledge is power and knowing is half the battle. To empower someone means to equip them. Being ready for anything that life sends your way is essential in this journey on this side of life. The more you know or understand the easier circumstances and situations become.

Here is my gift to you...

Empowerment

This session is an open, organic, truthful discussion about how we all need to be empowered. This opener will have you tapping into some feelings that you wanted to forget. By the end of this installment you will realize that you are POWER and some of it must be given away.

Knowledge vs. Wisdom

Is there a difference in the words? Aren't they similar? Why are some people content with being knowledgeable? Why is it more important to be full wisdom than knowledge? These questions are answered and thoroughly explained.

Plant. Nurture. Grow. Support. Repeat.

Life is a journey, a process, and this is the formula. Practical steps are provided to help you become motivated and passionate about the youth.

Be Unpredictable

Shouldn't we share our goals? Shouldn't we have a support team that we provide encouragement, when we want to Quit? Why isn't it ok to update Facebook and Twitter statuses with new opportunities, accomplishments, or even your personal business? You must attend this workshop to receive the answers.
